

I am writing to express anger and concern over Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to air an anti-Kerry documentary so close to the election.

I believe Sinclair is obligated to serve the public interest, since it uses the public airwaves free of charge. And I do not believe airing what is essentially an ad for the Bush campaign is in the public interest. We need real news on local, national and international interest. That is what sustains our democracy.

There is real danger in letting large companies control the airways. And I believe we need to strengthen media ownership rules, as well.

Thank you for your time and attention.
